

Divining Nature

(Nature Divination)

The Sum of the Practice: Don't make it harder than it is. Don't "try" to hear. Just pay attention to what you do hear (see, or sense, etc.)

To Divine: To seek an answer from The Divine. Divination: The act of seeking an answer from The Divine. (Think of the many ways people do this, including prayer. It's more common than uncommon!)

Intention/Purpose Tips

Nature is easiest to "hear" when we simply intend to love and appreciate it. It already knows what we need to understand and when we will understand. Bring your questions and concerns, but then turn to only examining and appreciating the sensory aspects of your surroundings or an element in your surroundings that you're drawn to. (Just like the give & take conversation in any other relationship, give your attention.)

The Ways We "Hear"

There are categories of "hearing." People actually receive in different ways. It is important not to expect information to come in any particular way, but instead to observe whatever comes, then focus on that. For example: If you watch for a visible sign, you may miss an auditory sign. Drop all expectations, and be open and observant.

Psychic, meaning imparted without words, categories are listed for you on the next page, so you can understand the many ways we "hear."

"Wisdom & Knowledge Layaway"

Journal (or even photograph) your observations, even if you think you have not succeeded. Divination is the same as dreams and other impartations. Wisdom and knowledge often unfold over time as we grow spiritually and as our understanding grows.

Did you know that sometimes, you are meant to not understand yet!? Higher Knowledge will often teach you how to know when you are hearing from it and when you are only hearing your own mind (opinions, assumptions). It will give you plenty of experience in both, so that you will learn to decipher the difference and trust when you're hearing from The Divine (Consciousness, God, Goddess, Oneness, Universe, etc.).

So, know that you have never failed! Learning takes time.

What Nature (or any aspect of Higher Power) Will Never Do & Always Do

If you've ever attended diverse spiritual groups, interfaith or interspiritual groups, you likely will have found that people of all beliefs can pray or divine in their own ways and come to the same conclusions.

Conclusions never, involve hurting oneself or others or separation of creation/peoples.

Conclusions (wisdom & knowledge) always considers unity/ what's good for one and All,

Psychic Categories (Ways We "Hear")

You may have one or all abilities. "Clair" means clear...

Clairvoyance: Use of Third Eye. You are likely to see visual messages and signs in your head. (Clear Seeing)

Clairaudience: Think of an audience listening. You are likely to hear messages inside your head. (Clear Hearing)

Clairsentience: You sense (inside the body, not outside) or have a strong gut-feeling that rings with truth. Sometimes you'll know that you should or shouldn't (like a warning) do something, but you'll have no explanation for the knowledge. (Clear Sensing/Feeling)

Claircognizance: Info downloads to your mind, quickly. You may pick-up on feelings, knowledge, even words like an automatic download of information having no other sensory aspect. (You may feel like an all-of- sudden scholar or guru, or sometimes say, "I don't know how I know this!" or "These words just came from my mouth like someone else was speaking for me.") (Clear Knowing)

Clairtangency also Psychometry: You sense (outside the body, not inside) when handling or touching an object. You may know its history or the history of an owner, for example. (Clear Touching)

Clairgustance: Please don't taste random things in Nature. Lol. But you may have a taste in your mouth for no apparent reason, which imparts knowledge, because you are clairgustant. (Clear Tasting)

Clairscent: You will smell smells which impart information. (Clear Smelling)
